As a member of the Government Relations practice group, Jeri has developed and implemented advocacy strategies by representing a range of industries, including health care, transportation, and technology. She supports clients' agendas by coordinating outreach with Federal legislators and the Council of the District of Columbia. Concurrently, she aims to support client goals by actively monitoring policy developments and alert clients of relevant information on a daily basis.

Previous Work

Jeri previously served in a number of roles for Senator Roy Blunt (R-Missouri), the Chief Majority Deputy Whip and Chairman of the Republican Policy Committee. Under Senator Blunt, Jeri worked on legislation concerning judiciary, banking and financial services, election security, and values issues. Additionally, Jeri regularly drafted memos on legislative topics and identified and coordinated opportunities for Senators to speak on the Senate floor about pending legislation and other topics.

A highlight of Jeri's work was assisting Senator Blunt in the development and revision of the Timely Mental Health for Foster Youth Act during the 116th Congress alongside Congresswoman Brenda Lawrence (D-MI).

Life Beyond Law

In her free time, Jeri enjoys running with the Capitol Hill Running Club and volunteering as a member of the Junior League of Washington.
